From:

1.

2. Third session of OSI Intelligence Reporting course.
3. Checking in at Alcott Hall daily and giving two lecture discussions this week.
4. Attended meeting of the permanent Interagency Committee on Area and Language Specialists at the Civil Service Commission on Tuesday. A sub-committee was appointed to define the various types of area and language specialists so that government agencies may indicate their needs in this field in terms of fairly specific job requirements. I am a member of this sub-committee.

It looks as though the deliberations of the larger committee will drag on indefinitely. It is desirable that CIA continue to work out its own approach to the training of area and language specialists.
